Life's an adventure...

>> Where to begin?

Or where to end?

Up we climb or down we slide?

Or is it the other way around, side to side?

Which way is up as all things go around?

Something is half full it may appear half empty

Why look at things in different ways anyway?

Why appreciate the tiny things?

Or care about the little ones?

Why not?

Listening can provide surprise

To be or not to be listened to that is a question

Why share wisdom or show respect?

Regrets, we will all have a few

But then again too few to mention

What is your way?

Today as always is a good-day-to-try

Life is THE adventure. >>